RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT POLICY

The art and science of asking question is source of all knowledge – Thomas Berger

Anna Adarsh College is committed to the promotion of research and the generation of knowledge for the benefit of the students, faculty, and the society at large. The college regards research as an important and essential part of its academic activities. Keeping this in mind Anna Adarsh College for Women strengthens the research in the following aspects:

- Organises workshop, conferences, and seminars to provide conducive climate for research and development.
- Provide information and news bulletins on research projects and research funding of national and international agencies.
- Sensitise Departments and faculty on potential research and development areas.
- Encourage publication of books, monographs, research papers etc., by providing financial assistance and infrastructural research ambience.
- Motivate faculty and students to publish and to present research papers / articles at various national and international conferences and seminars.
