Brief Report: IQAC conducted a one day workshop on NIRF inviting all IQAC members of College. The resource person was Dr A Clementking, Quality Consultant, Engineering and Computer science, National Centre for Academic Accreditation and Evaluation, Riyadh, Kingdom of Saudi Arabia. The session is focused on the preparatory work related to NIRF and the design of internal organization systems in HEIs and NIRF quality parameters. The Resource person explained the importance and methodology of NIRF. He pointed out the gaps in preparatory works and the difficulties being faced by the colleges and universities in collecting and collating the data and information. He also pointed out that there are no separate wings in colleges/Universities for preparing documents and data for rankings. All the faculty members who are publishing research papers should be asked to submit their papers in open access agencies like ResearchGate, Google scholar etc. Such measures will ensure the institution's identity on the research front. Also by conducting international conferences, seminars, by inviting eminent persons across the country and also from abroad, institutions' names will be known to stakeholders across the country and it helps in scoring high under the head 'perceptions.

Dissemination of information on the various quality parameters of higher education, Organization of workshops, seminars on quality related themes, Documentation of the various programmes / activities leading to quality improvement are the functions of the IQAC.

About the Seminar

Higher education is generally understood as teaching, research and extension. When we critically analyze the different concepts of higher education, we can list the various roles higher education plays in the society. Higher education is the source or feeder system in all walks of life and therefore supplies the much-needed human resources in management, planning, design, teaching and research.

The seminar focuses on the sustenance and enhancement of the Quality standards which is a by-product of ongoing efforts to define the objectives of an institution, to have a work plan to achieve them and to specify the checks and balances to evaluate the degree to which each of the tasks is fulfilled. Commitment to improvement rather than mere institutional control is the basis for devising procedures and instruments for assuring quality. Scientific and technological advancement and economic growth of a country is dependent on the higher education system as they are on the working class. Development of indigenous technology and capabilities in agriculture, food security and other industrial areas are possible because of our world class higher education infrastructure.

As Directors, Principals, Deans, Heads of Departments, Faculty members, stake holders and policy makers in education, the question is – why worry about quality in education? It is not just because of the UGC directive, rather quality should be a bottom-up approach and everyone should be conscious of the quality of our teaching methodologies, programmes offered and institutional facilities. The seminar will enhance a culture of excellence and full potential to those involved directly or indirectly in higher education and motivate a paradigm shift in favour of fineness through internal, self-initiated, logically planned and morally rooted committed decisions.
